OIL NEWS.

[BY E. T. KEMPER]

It has been said that every possible necessity of a man's life, save the water he drinks, may be supplied either directly or indirectly, through the use of petroleum products, and even the water may be pumped by a gasoline engine.

Reliable information is at hand to the effect that certain parties are figuring on buying the property and production of the McMeed Oil Company, Creelsboro, and the indications are that should the Company decide to sell even a portion of their holdings it would yield a handsome return to the stockholders on their investment.

A number of oil men from different sections, some of them here for the first time, have been in this territory during the past few days making diligent inquiry into the local situation, and at the same time making a lot of personal investigation. Considerable interest is being manifested in the securing of leases, but not very many in this immediate locality are changing hands at present, owing to the fact that so many land owners are holding out for "bonuses," when they should be satisfied to turn their acreage over free to reputable concerns who will develop the territory. Wells of small capacity even would prove much more profitable to the land owners than anything they might receive in the way of a bonus or in rentals, and operators are more inclined to spend money in drilling for oil than in the payment of privileges.

Mr. Geo. H. Palmer, president of the Palmer Oil Company, is greatly worried at present over the non-arrival of his drilling rig which was shipped here from West Virginia several weeks ago, and he says that unless it arrives within the next day or two he will leave to trace the shipment in person.

Richardson & Goff, this city, drilling for the Southern Oil & Refining Company, Denver, Colo., of which Dr. Frank D. Hines, so well and favorably known here, is president, have just drilled in a real oil well on the Russ Gilbert farm, located on Brush Creek, Cumberland county, near Bakerton. The depth is 165 feet, the quality of oil is of a superior grade, and the quantity is so great that a strong stream of oil has been flowing from the well to Cumberland River, one half mile away. Parties from here have seen the well, and they report it to be a wonder. The new well is located only a short distance from the "Old English" well drilled in 1866, and which was credited with a daily production of twelve hundred barrels. This well was 190 feet deep.

Mr. Elmo Pearce, the "live wire" from Blackwell, Okla., who has been here for several days past, and who is well-known to the oil fraternity in Kentucky and Oklahoma, reports that he is daily expecting parties here from Texas and Oklahoma, who are turning longing eyes towards this territory. Mr. Pearce also gives out the information that he has secured living quarters here and will bring his family to Columbia at an early date.

The J. E. Carnahan Oil Company, drilling on the Henry Ingram farm, near town, have had a serious breakdown of their machinery, and operations are held up pending repairs. The work of repairing is being rushed as fast as possible and they hope to be able to resume drilling operations again within the next few days. Manager Whitis, who was here last week reports that they are shipping a rig from Monroe county to Creelsboro where they will again begin drilling on some of their extensive holdings in that section just as soon as the machinery can be gotten on the ground. The shipment is being made by river and no unusual delay is anticipated.

A certain Refining Company is so anxious to secure the output of oil in the Creelsboro territory that they are willing to construct a pipe line to that field as soon as satisfactory contracts can be made with the producers in that section. With some six or seven good wells already completed, and others to be drilled as soon as the machinery arrives, refiners are beginning to sit up and take notice that a new field is being opened up very rapidly, and more than one concern is casting longing eyes in that direction. It will not be a great while until a pipe line is in operation in that field.

Mr. Frank Sweet, in charge of the drilling operations of the McMeed Oil Company at Creelsboro, was in town Saturday, and to him I am indebted for a complete and first hand statement of the situation as it applies to well No. 4, reported in this column last week. Both oil and gas were struck in such quantities that the flow became ignited from the boiler fire, and it was with difficulty that the drilling crew could either save the machinery or themselves from being seriously burned. The burning of the drill rope caused the tools to drop to bottom of hole, and the completion of the well is held up pending the result of a "fishing" job. Mr. Sweet is of the opinion that the new well will, when completed, be one of the very best brought in on that lease.

Several drilling rigs are reported to be headed for the Creelsboro section, and it begins to look as if some very active additional operations will be under way there in the very near future.

Visit Mammoth Cave.

A jolly automobile party given in honor of Mr. W. L. Welch, of Jackson, Ky., was composed of the following: Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston Miller, Dr. and Mrs. O. P. Miller, Misses Mary and Julia Miller, Margaret Patterson, Mr. O. B. Miller and Master Russell Miller. The crowd left Columbia, Wednesday, of last week, at 8 a. m., en route to Mammoth Cave. On their way they visited the Monastery at Getsemane and Lincoln Farm, reaching Cave City that night, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Luther Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Smith. The following morning the party accompanied by Mr. Williams proceeded to Mammoth Cave. After taking a most entertaining route, heartily enjoyed a delightful lunch. After lunch they went to the Great Onyx Cave, which they declared to be more beautiful than Mammoth. On returning to Cave City that night, they heartily enjoyed a bountiful dinner at the Dixie Hotel. The following morning the party started on their homeward journey via Greensburg, where they visited the historical scenes and had lunch. From there they went to Campbellsville, and after having dinner at the Wilson House, the party started for home, reaching there about 9:30.

CAMPBELLVILLE LOSES

Mr. A. B. Gowdy, a Native of the Place, Dies in St. Joseph Hospital, Louisville.

WAS WELL-KNOWN IN COLUMBIA.

Last Wednesday forenoon, about 11:30 o'clock, the subject of this writing breathed his last in St. Joseph Hospital, Louisville, where he submitted to an operation, the end coming about one week after going under the knife.

He was close to 73 years old, a son of A. F. Gowdy, who was prominent in the affairs of Campbellsville and Taylor county during his life time.

The deceased was educated in Campbellsville and in Columbia. While attending the Presbyterian High School here, he became acquainted with Miss Lora Triplett, daughter of Lewis and Frances Triplett, and they were subsequently married, and in a short time commenced housekeeping in the deceased home town. They lived happily together until about twenty years ago at which time the wife died. She left no children, and since her demise, Mr. Gowdy has made his home with his surviving brothers and at the hotel in Campbellsville.

For a number of years he was a consistent member of the Christian Church, and gave liberally of his means for its support.

In disposition he was very quiet, but determined in his purposes, a man who will be greatly missed in his home town. He was the oldest of a family of brothers and one sister, the sister being Mrs. Emma Collins, who spent her married life in Frankfort. The surviving brothers are D. W., J. E., J. T., George H., and Robert Gowdy. He also leaves one half sister, Mrs. Henry Hord, who lives in Campbellsville. They are all in business in Campbellsville. Mr. Geo. H. Gowdy, being the principal owner of the Taylor County National Bank.

The remains left Louisville on the 5 o'clock train Wednesday afternoon, and the burial took place in Campbellsville, after funeral services, Thursday afternoon, a large circle of relatives and friends following the remains to Brookside Cemetery where they were deposited by the side of his companion, his mound being covered with beautiful flowers.

The discourse was preached by Rev. Z. T. Williams, this place.

This town, where the deceased was well-known, sends its sympathy to those who have been most deeply affected by this death. God alone can bring succor to those who have aching hearts. Intercede with Him for comfort, and be prepared to meet the departed when called to leave this world of sin and sorrow.

Every Adair county farmer who can leave his home on Friday, the 27th of August, should be in Columbia and be ready to visit the Demonstration Field, and see the Fordson Tractor in action. This demonstration will be put on by Buchanan Lyon Co. A man will be with the Tractor to explain every feature of its action, and it will be one of the most interesting sights ever pulled off in this locality. Do not remain at home on this day, but come and see something that will be of lasting benefit to you. For further particulars read the back page of this paper.

The Bible Institute.

Interesting meetings were held at the Baptist church, this city, last week beginning on Tuesday and closing Sunday of this week.

Four or five visiting ministers were here and a number of splendid addresses were made, talks that will prove very beneficial, binding the members to closer duties to the church and its ordinances. Tithing was discussed, and members who do not tithe, were convinced that it was their duty to do so.

The addresses made by Dr. Stephens, of Louisville, Revs. L. C. Kelley, Martin, Scruggs, Bush, and Layman Geo. E. Hayes, of Louisville, and others were of special interest and were highly appreciated.

Each day dinner was served in Mrs. Butler's yard, and the delightful good things the country affords were spread before the participants.

Taking it all together it was a very profitable meeting, and good results will follow.

This institute coming on the eve before a series of meetings, will be a reminder of the duties of the members, better preparing them for the enjoyment of a series of religious discourses.

Mr. W. H. Shipp Goes to Bowling Green.

We have just learned that we are soon to lose Mr. W. H. Shipp, who has been the manager of the Grinstead Poultry House, this city, for about two years, giving perfect satisfaction.

Davidson Bros., of Bowling Green, have secured his service at an advance of fifty dollars per month more than his present salary. There was no friction between him and the Grinstead Co. The present high cost of living and a growing family was the inducement that caused Mr. Shipp to accept Davidson Bros. proposition.

He will leave with his family for Bowling Green from the 1st to the 15th of September, carrying the best wishes of this town.

Mr. Shipp will be succeeded by Mr. B. E. Wilson, of Greensburg, who has a family, and who will occupy the dwelling on Greensburg street, vacated by Mr. Shipp. He and his flock will be given a cordial welcome.

We hope Mr. Smith will be able to light the town in a very short time. Some parts to his engine are to arrive before he can again commence to furnish satisfactory lights, but we understand they are expected soon. In this day a town the size of Columbia without lights is like a fish out of the water. After supper business is killed, and in order to keep from being extremely lonesome, the citizens of the town must retire soon after sundown.

The Ball Game.

The engagement at this place last Thursday afternoon, between the News-Journal Club, Campbellsville, and the Columbia Club was a disappointment, as neither club seemed to be in proper trim for the contest. In the first inning the visitors run in five scores. Will Young was in the box for Columbia and Alvin Lewis was behind the bat. The visitors continued to gain until the seventh inning when the home boys showed evidence of playing, gained a few scores, and when the contest ended the visitors had twelve scores to their credit and the home team eight. After the second inning Will Young surrendered to Simon Finn, who did some splendid pitching, and it looked to the onlookers like the result might have been different had he been in the box at the start. Young is a good pitcher, but the best often have off days. When the game closed the players were in good humor, and another meet will be called soon.

Services At the Presbyterian Church

Last Sunday a large audience greeted Dr. J. R. Crawford, of Paducah, at the Presbyterian church. He preaches in the same forceful manner as in years past, when he was the pastor of the Church, this place. The appointment gave him an opportunity to meet many of his old friends and it is needless to say that he was warmly greeted. While here he was a guest of Dr. W. J. Flowers and wife. Dr. Crawford was here in the interest of the Centenary drive, and he was accompanied by Dr. Frank Cheek, of Danville, and Rev. Hart, of Greensburg. On Saturday night Dr. Cheek delivered a very entertaining discourse, a large audience being present. The two latter were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Walker.

Quite a delegation from Columbia and out in Adair attended the circus at Campbellsville last Friday.

Cutting Affray.

Last Friday night an ice cream supper at Cane Valley drew quite a crowd. During the evening Elver East and Brack Grant got into a playful scuffle, which was turned into madness, and Grant was stabbed three times about the back. After the trouble East left, going to Campbellsville where he was arrested by Town Marshal Clyde Crenshaw, who turned him over to the authorities here Saturday morning. As we write, Saturday forenoon, Grant is said to be in a serious condition. All the facts will be brought out at the examining trial which will be called as soon as the wounded man is able to appear before court.

Coal Strike.

Mr. S. E. Shively, who has been in Manchester, Ky., for two weeks, returned home last Saturday night. Mr. Shively and a number of other Adair County citizens, recently purchased stock in a coal company, but after they entered the organization, it cropped out that the affairs of the company were not properly managed. The local men here put their heads together and Mr. Shively was sent to Chicago, Ill., at that time headquarters for the company. He did not find things to his liking and there was a re-organization and Mr. Shively was elected temporary President. Headquarters were then removed to Manchester, Ky. On this last trip Mr. Shively was elected permanent President, and a large amount of watered stock was set aside, and the company was put upon a firmer foundation, and there is no doubt but the investments here are in much better condition and may yet prove very valuable. It has an inexhaustible mine of the finest of coal, and it is now being gotten out and marketed.

Former Attorney General Jas. Garnett is the company's legal advisor, and he has already rendered valuable assistance.

May Go Higher.

Car owners who are holding back on the purchase of tire equipment in the hope of a reduction in prices are likely to be disappointed. There is nothing in the tire manufacturing situation to indicate a downward trend of tire costs. On the contrary, a "break" that will necessarily mean the advancing of prices seems inevitable. A resume of the tire industry and the conditions under which it has developed in the last decade, causes the casual observer to wonder, in fact, that tire prices have not already begun to climb steadily. Unless one studies carefully the underlying reasons for the successful checking of tire prices in the face of overwhelming advances in virtually every other commodity, it is rather amazing to note that prices now are much lower than they were ten years ago. It is still more interesting to compare prices of standard manufacture tires today with prices of the same product at the beginning of the war. Good tires now cost no more than in 1914. There has not even been an appreciable advance in the last two years. And yet the quality is higher and the purchaser gets more value for his money than ever before. When one considers that prices of raw materials, labor and transportation have made more tremendous leaps in the last five years than during any period in manufacturing history the natural query concerning the manufacturers is, "How do they hold down the prices?" And from this question comes the answer to another, "Will the prices go down?" It does not appear that a decrease is likely. Manufacturing genius, which has about reached its limit has kept down the cost to the tire user. The standard manufacturer has combated price increases by developing his processes. He has expended millions of dollars in the installation of new machinery, better machinery and new methods. He has brought his output up to maximum and has made his profits on a quantity margin. He has smashed overhead expenses by use of these weapons and by putting his distribution on such a broad basis as to make it economical. Output has about reached its zenith. So long as demand continues strong there is a possibility that tire prices will remain on their present level. But if a general determination to "hold out" should spread among car-owners it is more than probable than such an attitude would tend to create a reverse effect to the one desired and send tire prices rocketing.

WEST IS MAGNET FOR IMMIGRANTS

Majority of Ellis Island Arrivals Drawn to Industrial Centers by Higher Wages.

IRISH GO TO NORTHWEST

Women and Children Predominate—Work Increased by New Laws Governing Aliens—Europe Loath to Let Them Go.

New York.—The stream of immigration flowing through Ellis island has been noticeably deflected from New York city to inland centers during the last twelve months, and officials give this as one explanation for the fact that the city's 1920 census was only 5,621,121 instead of the 6,100,000 expected.

Official statistics regarding the destination of arriving aliens are sent to Washington to be tabulated and digested. For this reason destination figures for the last twelve months were not available. One who most closely watches alien arrivals is J. F. Rowe, official money changer. He is quick to notice any unusual movement in the flow of immigration.

To the Manufacturing Centers. Mr. Rowe asserted that money exchanged for immigrants whose destination is New York city does not amount to 1 per cent of the amount exchanged for those giving other parts as their destination.

"In former years," said Mr. Rowe, "immigrants poured into New York city by the hundreds of thousands. They are now going to manufacturing centers such as Pittsburgh, Detroit and Akron, Ohio, or to the coal and iron mining regions."

"For the most part those arriving here now were in America before the war, and are acquainted with the country and attracted to sections where the best wages are paid. Before the war a majority of the arrivals had only hazy ideas as to where they were going or what wages they were to receive."

"Another interesting fact is the change of location of some of the races. Not so many years ago most of the Irish arrivals flowed into Massachusetts or scattered along the North Atlantic seaboard. Now they are going into Oregon. It is noticeable, too, that more aliens are going to California than ever before."

In January 24,000 aliens arrived here; February, 22,000; March, 29,000; April, 36,000; May, 40,000, and in June up to and including the 19th, 31,000. Superintendent Baker of Ellis island said this immigration was made up mostly of women, children and returning reservists. These latter are mostly Italians, and the figures for this month will show that most of those who left America to fight for Italy have returned.

Passports Hard to Get.

The fact that no great number of male aliens is arriving here does not mean a lack of desire to come to America, the immigration officials say. Rather it means that European governments are not willing to further deplete the male adult population by allowing emigration. The intending emigrant is finding it difficult to get passports under the new immigration laws. Also ship accommodations are harder to obtain.

Before the war from four to five thousand aliens arrived at this port each day, or about 150,000 a month. Notwithstanding the falling off in arrivals, however, Superintendent Baker said the work probably increased. This is because of the changes in the law. Not only do arriving aliens have to pass examinations as to moral and physical fitness, but they must pass a literacy test and be armed with passports vided by the American consular agent nearest their home and indorsed by the American authority at the port of embarkation.

Under amendments to the law certain persons are now exempt from the literacy test and all of these must be detained to prove that they are entitled to exemption. Again, many women and children are coming to relatives here, and these must be detained until such relationship is proved.

Mother Found Two Children Playing With Blacksnake

Missing her two children, Mrs. George Mead of Susquehanna, Pa., located them in a field nearby. Her four-year-old son was astride a blacksnake more than three feet in length, and his sister, Gladys, three years old, was striking the snake on the head with a switch.

The youngsters were laughing, and the woman said the snake seemed to be contented. The reptile glided away at sight of the mother.

PIPE SNOW TO DESERT

Arid Wastes of Arizona Transformed by Engineer.

Charles H. Spencer Found Hidden Water Supply From San Francisco Peaks.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Solving a problem that for years has puzzled the greatest engineers of the country, Charles H. Spencer has brought billions of gallons of water to the arid lands of Arizona. The water comes from an underground flow on the snow-capped San Francisco mountains. The mountains, 12,611 feet above sea level, are of volcanic origin, and the total precipitation is equal to nine and one-half billion gallons a year.

Irrigation experts had sought for years to solve the problem of saving this water, which was going to waste, and which, when turned on Arizona's deserts, would mean millions of acres available for use. Mr. Spencer spent four years searching through the mountains, making careful tests and examining the rock formations.

His tireless labors were rewarded when he discovered a rim of dacite cement, which carried the water to the stratus below. He found that by piercing these lower stratus he could reach the underground flow, and in the spring of 1918 he filled the first of his reservoirs, Crater lake, with 150,000,000 gallons of water of true underground flow.

Mr. Spencer used seven extinct craters for reservoirs, with a combined capacity of 2,000,000,000 gallons. There will be no such thing as pumping costs. There is not an ounce of power required anywhere, for it is entirely gravity flow. By solving the secret of the hidden water supplies he has made it possible for arid lands to be transferred into beautiful gardens, rich farming lands and verdant grazing grounds.

PREDICTS SUPER-RACE

The population of America today is evolving into a super-race, a nation of that high intellectual and moral supremacy to all others of history not attained since the passing of the ancient Greeks and in America will be reached the culmination of age-long cycles of reincarnation—thus a Hindu philosopher, Bahman Pestjoni Wadia of India predicted in an address delivered in Philadelphia. He says the wearing of narrow and abbreviated garments by women indicates they are merry hearted and are rejoicing in their liberty.

MARINE HAS NEVER SEEN U. S.

Born of American Parents in China He Enlists at the Legation.

Peking, China.—The only United States marine in the world who has never seen the United States is on duty at the American legation here. He is private C. W. F. Childress, who was born of American parents in China. When he became of age a few weeks ago he decided to join the marines and enlisted at the legation.

Childress is a tall, good looking lad who can speak the Chinese language like a native. His services as an interpreter are especially valuable to the marines. Through association with his parents and other American residents of China he is thoroughly familiar with the traditions and customs of the United States. He is looking forward to the day when he will see the country whose flag he serves.

RAISES STATUS OF SEAMEN

International Congress Would Put Them on Same Legal Level as Ship Owners.

Genoa.—The International Congress of Seamen adopted a resolution stating that the congress should recommend to each nation that seamen be placed on the same legal level with ship owners. The resolution declares this could be accomplished through the repeal of all laws and the abrogation of all treaties compelling seamen to labor against their will when a vessel is in safety, and those providing incarceration for seamen failing to fulfill labor contracts.

The committee on working hours adopted the principle of the eight-hour day. The delegates from Japan, Spain, France, Holland and Germany voted for the eight-hour day, while those from England, Sweden, Norway and India voted against it.

TURKISH WOMEN BREAK CUSTOMS

No Longer Shy, Veiled Creatures, but Work With Men in Many Lines.

SPECIAL SEATS FOR WOMEN

Only the Very Old Men Rash Enough to Sit Down in the Same Car Seat With a Turkish Woman—Leaders Educated.

Constantinople.—Turkish women are no longer the shy, veiled creatures who passed their time in the seclusion of the harem and were never seen by foreign men. They still cling to the veil. But the streets in Constantinople and other larger Turkish cities are filled with women who have their veils thrown back from their faces. They are highly ornamental and becoming. Most Turkish women don't want to abandon them in favor of hats. But there are many sorts of veils and the smart, black silk veils which some of the women wear are very fetching when draped artistically over their hair.

Car Seats for Women.

In the railway and street cars there are special seats for women, but the flimsy curtains which are supposed to screen them from the gaze of men are usually drawn back and it is not uncommon to see men standing in the compartments for women. Only very old men, however, are rash enough to sit down in the same seat with a Turkish woman. Turkish women seldom go to a theater where there are men. Special matinees and evening performances are arranged for women only.

The war has done much to break down the barrier between Turkish men and women. The women were needed so badly as nurses and relief workers that the government had to avail itself of their services. And now it is regarded as quite proper for men and women to be associated in all sorts of charitable and educational works. Consequently many women who were formerly forced to content themselves with seclusion in a home where fancy work and French novels were the only diversions are devoting their time to hospitals, orphanages and other philanthropic institutions.

Educated Women Leaders.

Women who have been educated abroad or in the foreign schools in Turkey are the leaders in this movement for greater freedom for their sex. Their broad experience in war work has interested many women in politics, and they have openly played a great part in the nationalist movement. In the Constantinople American Woman's college the Turkish girls take great interest in basketball and other athletic games, and the effect upon women who have come under foreign influence is making the old life of seclusion and inactivity unattractive to younger Turkish women.

BERLIN NO LONGER MAGNET

City's Travel Bureau Urges Need of Desirable Visitors at German Capital.

Berlin, Germany.—As a center of attraction for visitors from outside, Berlin is on the wane, said Chairman Landau of the city's foreign travel bureau, which held its annual meeting here recently.

Landau stated that although in the year under review 1,389,000 strangers visited the capital, they were on the whole not the class of visitors that were desired. Berlin, he added, had become hated in the provinces and no traveler came to Berlin for pleasure. Moreover, there was an alarming exodus of industrial undertakings from Berlin.

The authorities, he said, must wake up and offer favors and such like as an inducement for the desirable class of visitors to come to Berlin.

Bridegroom, Only 105, on Belated Honeymoon

San Jose, Cal.—Charles H. Diamond, one-hundred-and-five-year-old bridegroom, and his seventy-four-year-old bride of Stevens county, Washington, are spending a belated honeymoon here. They married thirty-one years ago, but the marriage was never recorded. Because he's "getting a little old," Diamond decided to go through a second marriage ceremony in order that his estate might go to his wife.

One the Movies Missed.

Columbus, Ind.—The rescue of Mrs. John Sprague from death in a runaway would have done credit to a movie thriller. When her horse ran away Charles Hiatt cranked up his filly and with David Marr on the running board, gave chase. As the auto passed the horse Marr made a flying leap, grabbed the reins and brought the animal to a standstill on the brink of a high embankment.

How He Saved His Cherry Crop.

Bedford, Ind.—Dr. J. L. Creep saved his cherry crop by putting an old rubber hose in the trees. Birds fight shy of a tree which holds a snake. The hose fooled them.

PLAYED FEW "SAFETY SHOTS"

Men Who Have Won Success in Life's Game Satisfied With Nothing but Victory.

Walter Hagen, the golfer, says: "Never play for a safety, but always try for the cup."

Kings in other trades as well as in golf have found that it pays to "try for the cup," remarks "Girard" in the Philadelphia Press.

Safety shots are often careless shots in business as in play.

Rockefeller played six hole out in the oil world and he made a par and then some.

Morgan hammered the ball straight for the flag and it flew above every bunker and sand pit in the financial world.

Col. "Tom" Scott had no safety shots in his bag when dreaming out the Pennsylvania road system, nor did Franklin D. Goven when he made his master stroke in buying the Reading's coal lands.

Theodore N. Vail, the telephone giant, never nipped his game nor resorted to a half shot to save his face. He went out with the long stroke and came home to the final shot with a record card to his credit.

The big-league teams play to win the game, not to win a compromise or tie the other team.

The great merchant nails his flag to the mast, says "damn the torpedoes," and shoots straight at his target.

So in business as on the links the adage should be: "Hold your head still and play for the cup."

PICK EMPLOYEES WITH CARE

Modern Business Men No Longer Rely on the "Hit-or-Miss" Method of Selection.

There was a time when picking employees was a hit-and-miss job, a trial-and-error matter which few employers believed could be corrected. This is the day of doing things right and the modern employer is now selecting his associates, from the office boy to the man highest up, with as much care as he would launch on an entirely new business venture. William Marvin Jackson, director of the Personnel Development service, writes:

"If employees are carefully selected, with an eye to their real adaptability and fitness for the work to be done, it goes without question that they are much more likely to take an interest in their work, and hence, the business itself. If they are interested, they will get along well with their fellows and co-operate with their superiors. All of which means that they will grow, and there is no satisfaction for the employee greater than that which accompanies the knowledge that he is getting somewhere. Putting him on the back may make him feel good, and paying him a good salary may make him work harder. But giving him a new job and bigger job will alone make him supremely happy, will alone make him work with complete abandon, with thorough-going enthusiasm."—Forbes Magazine.

No Doubt Who Was Boss.

Sometimes it is easy to see, even before a couple is married, just which one is going to be the boss of the household. Recently a big, robust woman stepped into the office of Register of Deeds Adler Johnson. "Is this where I get a license?" she asked. "What kind of a license?" asked Adler.

"A marriage license," said the woman.

"No, we don't handle them," said Adler. "Go to the first door down the hall on your right."

"I knew at first that this wasn't the place," said the big woman, with an air of disgust; "that's what I told him." Thereupon she stepped into the hall, and when the door opened Adler could see a little man waiting outside.

It was evident that the woman had usurped command and was going to take charge of the marriage license business, not to mention, of course, the honeymoon and all the rest of the alliance.—Fort Scott (Kan.) Tribune.

Australian Rabbits Selling Fast.

Rabbits have been doing great damage in the grazing districts of Australia, and strenuous efforts to eradicate them has resulted in the killing of a vast number of these animals. Some 100,000 bodies are now in cold storage awaiting shipment to England. The embargo on the export of rabbit skins was removed in December last, and the boom in rabbit-skin prices has produced remarkable competition in slaughtering the pest. The ruling average price paid to trappers for skins is now $1.82 per pound, and the demand for skins by the United States and European markets is so great that it cannot be satisfied, and it is thought that prices will go still higher. Experienced trappers are making up to $97 per week for the skins alone.

Wanted a Quantity.

Helen's mother came from a large family and Helen loved to visit her grandma's house, as there were always so many young uncles and aunts to play with. One day, after returning from one of her visits, Helen was taken to the bedroom and was shown a tiny new baby sister. Helen did not seem to be at all enthusiastic, and her father, surprised at her lack of interest, asked:

"Well, what do you think of your new baby sister?"

Helen replied: "Hm! Only one? Why didn't you get a real many, like grandma has?"

LOOKING TO SOUTH PACIFIC

White Men Planning Complete Possession of Fertile Islands of That Far-Away Ocean.

With Europe a seething mass of unrest and discontent and uncertainty, your Britisher is looking to the islands of the South Pacific, already owned by the empire, as the next place to go—and to exploit, to use the expression of a lot of people who do not know the meaning of the word. Already corporations are being formed to colonize the islands, and beautiful word pictures of the advantages of a residence upon them are being painted.

The truth is, for some years the white man has been gradually getting a foothold in the region. The delightful pictures which one sees of the natives, gives a little idea of what is really to be seen in the country. They are not the wild, naked people roaming at large, eating each other and the missionaries. Rubber plantations, coconut groves, phosphate mines and other industries are operated by Europeans. And schools and churches are encountered on every hand, with the honk of the horn of the automobile heard in the shade of the palms.

The white man will not reach the end of his road until there is no more country to be settled up, and there are still vast areas to be brought under his domain. In Africa, and upon the islands of the sea, he is setting his foot and clearing up the jungles and conquering the pests and becoming acclimated. But the end is not yet; there is still much to be done, and the chances are that the next few years will see an exodus to these faraway places where a beginning has already been made.—Columbus Dispatch.

MADE HIT WITH RECITATION

Prince's Speech Consisted of Verses From the Koran, but Audience Didn't Know It.

It is interesting to recall that during the recent European tour of Prince Feisal of the new kingdom of Syria, his memory of the Koranic verses stood him in good stead. In London, at a dinner in the Guildhall, the prince, who was the guest of honor, and who knew little French and less English, was called upon to reply to the toast of his health. Beside him sat his friend and mentor, Colonel Lawrence, Oxford professor and oriental scholar, to whom he whispered as he rose to acknowledge the lord mayor's speech. Colonel Lawrence nodded his assent, and the prince addressed his audience in flowing Arabic periods, winning appreciation and applause.

When the guest of honor had resumed his seat, Colonel Lawrence, as his interpreter, rose to express in English the prince's sentiments of gratitude for his reception, and to voice his devotion to the principles of democracy and allied solidarity. It was not until many days had gone by that Colonel Lawrence allowed it to be known among his friends that what the prince had whispered to him was: "I'll recite the verses from the Koran about the cow."

Thus did the diplomatic professor deceive the unwitting ears of his Guildhall friends.—Munsey's Magazine.

Country's Motive Energy.

The gauge of a nation's industrial might is the amount of motive energy which it can command for the manifold fields of production and the essential contributory activities. We have maintained our supremacy in manufactured output very largely because of the vast amount of power which we could call into service. Robert G. Skerrett wrote in the Scientific American. Modern nations expend far more energy than the combined muscular ability of their population and beasts of burden. The margin is covered by the employment of mechanical energy in the form of power. To accomplish the work done annually in the United States, would require the labor of 3,000,000,000 hard-working slaves. The use of power gives to each man, woman and child in this country the service equivalent of thirty servants.

Why Orchids Were Caged.

Visitors to the flower show held recently in the Royal Horticultural hall at Westminster, England, were surprised to find a number of rare orchids confined, like so many wild animals in the zoo, within a heavy wire cage. It was explained that as the flowers represented a new addition to the orchid family, the grower was naturally anxious that his fellow dealers should not share his triumph. Had it not been for the cage, an unscrupulous competitor might have stolen some of the powdery pollen from the blooms, and used it to fertilize plants of his own. Normally adhering to the bodies of visiting insects, the pollen might easily have adhered to the tip of the thief's finger.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

United in Bonds of Peace

In the presence of the chief executives of Ecuador and Colombia, the corner stone of a monument commemorative of the happy termination of the boundary dispute between the two countries, was recently laid at the bridge of Rumichaca on the frontier. President Alfredo Maquerizo Moreno of Ecuador and President Fidel Suarez met half way on the bridge and greeted each other amid a salute of artillery and cheers of spectators of both nationalities. The presidents delivered addresses referring to the monument as a symbol of peace and friendship between their respective countries.

GET RESULTS FROM HOLIDAY

Vacation Days Should Be as Carefully Planned as Is the Work of the Year.

To the question, "What will you do on your holiday?" some might reply, discerning a possible tilt against the strenuous holiday, "Nothing." That would be as wrong as doing too much. The perfect holiday, for the average worker, should be on crescendo and diminishing lines, observes a writer in London Answers.

You pass into your fortnight or three weeks quietly. Your body is, literally, a machine. It has been doing work—hard, monotonous work—for a year. To switch it on suddenly to something quite different is to ask for trouble.

The walkers to Brighton don't plunge at the walk. They begin with short walks, to get themselves in trim. So whatever you are going to "do" on your holiday do it slowly and quietly at first, so that the machine of your body may "change gears" without jar, break or mishap. Then by the middle of your holiday you will be in good trim and the best of health.

And it is necessary, if your holiday is to do you real good, and build you up for another year's work, that you should gradually slow down your holiday activities, resume your work without, as it were, having to make yourself do it.

Who has not known that post-holiday feeling of not being able to settle down? It is the result of living a holiday at high pressure and ending at high pressure. Let the steam off gradually, so that you may pass from your holiday back to your work without effort.

REFUSED TO ABANDON GAME

Plucky Terrier Died With Fox It Had Run to Earth and Killed in Combat.

What is believed to be an unprecedented end to a combat between a fox and a terrier is reported from the Lake country.

A stout hill fox hunted by the Blencathra hounds for three and a half hours on the mountain heights above St. Johns-in-the-Vale sought sanctuary in a fissure of rock in a crack near the skyline of Wanthwaite. Here he faced one of the gamiest terriers belonging to the pack and, scrambling to a shelf in the rocks, was able for some time to give as fierce punishment as he got.

The terrier killed the fox, but refused to leave it and followers and hounds had at last to quit the crags so that they might make the descent of one of the most dangerous ravines of the mountain range before darkness. When hunters and whip returned next morning to the crag they found terrier as well as fox lying dead outside the borran.

An examination of the terrier showed that the fox had inflicted no mortal wound upon him. The terrier had dragged the fox out and then, loth to leave it, had laid down beside it. It was clear that he had died from exposure during a bitterly cold night. No similar case has, so far as is known, occurred before.—London Times.

When in Doubt, Add 10 Per Cent.

A Wall street man was negotiating with a country tinsmith for the renewal of the rain gutters on his house. Inquiring cautiously about the cost of copper gutters, he was surprised to find that they would cost him at the rate of more than 50 cents a pound, though the metal sells in ingots around 19 cents.

"Well," said the smith, "you see the men that work the metal up in the shop get $9 a day. The shop adds 10 per cent for the workmen's insurance and aims to make at least $1 a day on every man. When it comes to me, I figure the cost of the materials and labor, and I have to add 10 per cent to the wages to cover insurance cost, too. Then I have to add 10 per cent to the whole thing for overhead, 5 per cent for the use of the car and 13 per cent for being a boss. So I really don't get any profit on the job at all. All I get out of it is my living, you might say."—Wall Street Journal.

Making a Lion Love a Lamb.

Mr. Bostock has told how he succeeded in making a lion and lamb firm friends.

"I placed in the lion's cage all sorts of toys of the animal variety—cotton sheep, horses, rabbits—in fact, a regular Noah's ark," said Mr. Bostock. "Then I specialized on manufactured sheep, but it took a long time for the lion to find out that they were not good to eat. Finally a live lamb was introduced. At first the lion looked surprised, and then lay down and gently pawed the stranger. The lamb did not like this, and drawing back a pace or two butted the lion in the mane. This appeared to amuse the lion greatly; he playfully rolled over on his back, while the lamb butted again. Now they are fast friends, and an insurance company would be justified in taking the lamb as a first-class risk."—F. H. Cheley in "Stories for Talks to Boys."

World's Glass Industry.

Glass factories of Bohemia are filled with orders and working at full capacity, but are likely to suffer in the future because of the competition that arose in this trade during the war. Japan is one of the largest competitors. New glass factories also have been founded in Belgium, the Ukraine, Roumania and Poland.

Democratic Ticket

FOR PRESIDENT
JAMES M. COX, of Ohio.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, of New York.

FOR UNITED STATES SENATE
J. C. W. BECKHAM.

FOR CONGRESS
RALPH GILBERT
of Shelby County.

The official count in Adair county gave Gilbert 313; Davis, 188; Ripy, 183.

Over the Fourth Congressional district, it is said that Ben Johnson can remain at home and defeat his Republican opponent.

The official count in the Eighth Congressional district, gives Gilbert's plurality over Ripy, the second man in the race, 490.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech of acceptance, like the one delivered by Gov. Cox a few days before, had the proper ring, and the newspaper comments are one long line of praise. Mr.
Roosevelt is a game citizen and a vote getter.

Gov. Cox and his running mate are now on a speaking tour.
They will be constantly on the go until the November election.
They are both confident that the Democratic National ticket will win.

It is given out that a syndicate is being formed by Louisville financiers to purchase the Camp
Taylor site when the government offers it for sale. If it should be purchased by a local company, plants will be established and it will be the manufacturing center of Louisville.

Let every Democrat in the county become busy and talk for Judge Gilbert from now until the election. He is the man that the Democrats must elect to Congress at the coming election.
The district is Democratic, but the party wants every vote polled on the day of the November election.

Sergeant Private Davis has done the right thing, showing that there are no sore spots on him. He has wired Judge Gilbert, who was the winner for the Congressional nomination, that he will stump the district for him. Col. Ripy has taken the same action. The dissatisfaction that Congressman Swope was looking for will not materialize.

The Republican candidates for county offices will make their announcements soon. The woods will be full of them. We have been told of a number who will offer for positions, but no public declaration has been made. All the offices in the county are to be filled, and a Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney in this Judicial district are also to be elected.

Col. Frank L. Ripy, shows that he is not only a manly man, but a Democrat in whom there is no guile. In congratulating Judge Ralph Gilbert, on his nomination for Congress, he says:
"Official returns show your nomination. I congratulate you most heartily and assure you of my most loyal support. It will be a genuine refreshment to the splendid citizenship of the Eighth District to see the retirement of the present Congressman and I want you and the Democracy of the district to know that I want it done and I'm going to help you do it. My services are always at the command of my party and country."

Judge Ralph Gilbert, who has been nominated by the Democrats in the Eighth district, to succeed Hon. King Swope, for Congress, was born in Spencer county, but has been a citizen of Shelbyville, Shelby county, for a number of years. He has been a Democrat ever since he was old enough to choose between parties, and invariably has taken an active part in elections. He is a lawyer by profession and has a large clientage, and has been a success in life. In religion, he is identified with the Methodist Church. He stands by President Wilson's administration, and believes that the League of Nations, when adopted by the United States,
seals all efforts for another world war. Judge Gilbert is a good speaker and during the campaign every county in the district will be given an opportunity to hear him. His former opponents, Col. Frank Ripy and Hon. Geo. T. Davis, will also speak in his interest.

RICE EXPORTS GROW

Cereal Shipped to Japan in Increasing Quantities.

Unlimited Opportunities for Future Development of Industry, Says Agricultural Department.

Washington.—The United States exported more than 300,000 pounds of rice to Japan during the first three months of this year, according to figures of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. In the past, less than a thousand pounds of this commodity were exported to Japan during the entire year of 1919. The average rice exports of the United States to all countries during the period 1910-1914 were less than 200,000 pounds a year. Today the exports range from 30,000,000 to 60,000,000 pounds a month.

This enormous export business has been made possible by the development of the rice industry in California based upon experiments made by the department of agriculture scientists in growing rice in communities where it was said to be impossible to grow the commodity. The first commercial field of rice in California was planted in the Sacramento valley in 1912. There are now a dozen rice mills in operation in the Golden state, which produced $21,000,000 worth of rice last year.

There is an almost unlimited opportunity for future development of the industry in the United States, say the department's specialists. The rice growers are most enthusiastic over the outlook, and declare that they are going to teach the American people that rice is one of the finest foods in the world.

GERMAN MADE WRONG GUESS

Thought Pedestal at Metz Was Being Prepared for Return of the Kaiser's Statue.

A letter from Dr. Marcel Knecht of the French high commission to William P. Garkis, of New York, supreme director of the Knights of Columbus, narrates how one of the first German tourists to visit Metz since the city was recently opened up to visitation from its late owners, walked around the site where formerly stood the statue of Emperor Friedrich Wilhelm. He knew that the statue had been overturned and dismantled shortly after the armistice. But he saw workmen busily rearranging the turf-setting.

"Ach," he remarked, with pompous joy. "They cannot long deny themselves German art. They will put back the statue of the great Kaiser. That is good!"

"On the contrary," a native Metzian rejoined. "We are going to install American art. An American sculptor's statue of Lafayette will replace the overrated Kaiser. That is better!"

Dr. Knecht says nothing of the Teuton's confusion but adds that the citizens of Metz are planning a gala day for the unveiling of the K. of C. statue of Lafayette next August.

Turkey's "Tree of Fate" Destroyed by Storm

Jerusalem.—A storm recently wrecked a tree known as "bulmi" (tree of fate), which stood outside the city walls and formerly was used as a gallows. Tradition has it that the end of Turkey would come when "bulmi" perished. To prevent destruction of the Ottoman empire iron hoops were placed around the withered trunk and the branches were supported by strong posts. All efforts to save the tree were in vain. Orthodox Turks are convinced that the empire of the Caliphs is doomed since "bulmi" went to pieces.

CANADA'S EXPORTS DECREASE

Drop $19,717,349—Imports Increase Heavily, Says Dominion Report.

Ottawa.—The United States now is Canada's largest customer, according to export figures for the year ending May 31.

The total exports to that country, aggregating $472,449,294, showed an increase of $22,015,223 over the previous fiscal year, while exports to the United Kingdom, amounting to $450,270,143, showed a decrease of $101,700,335.

Total exports were $1,250,208,294, a decrease of $19,717,349, and which was accounted for by the cessation of munition shipments aggregating $229,694,730.

Total imports of dutiable goods were $102,377,597, an increase of $296,770,755, and of free goods $398,577,061, an increase of $87,138,564. The heavy increase in imports was principally from the United Kingdom, the United States, British West Indies and Cuba.

Has an Artistic Hen.

Cottage Grove, Ore.—J. W. Eddy was discovered to his entire satisfaction that the rations fed to hens have a great deal to do with the kind of eggs which the hens produce. He has decided to name this place the "Sunflower chicken ranch."

WAR HEROES ROBBED

Conspiracy in the War Risk Insurance Bureau Unearthed.

Men Involved Were Handling Claims of Crippled Soldiers for Compensation.

Washington.—A conspiracy of employees in the war risk insurance bureau to defraud veterans of compensation due them for disabilities sustained during the war has been unearthed by the United States secret service, according to announcement by the treasury department.

Three arrests have been made. The names of the men arrested were not made public.

"All those concerned in this outrage will be prosecuted to the limit of the law," said Secretary of the Treasury Houston, in a statement issued here.

The men involved in these crimes were engaged in the task of handling claims of ex-soldiers for compensation. The method employed, as reported by the secret service, was substantially as follows:

A soldier, presenting his claim in person, was advised by one of the conspirators who handled it that he was entitled to $200 or $300. At the same time the employee denounced the fact that the award was so small.

Taking the matter under further consideration, he told the claimant that he thought he would be able to put through an award for a greater amount, but that, of course, he would want to share in the excess payment.

The claimant, agreeing, a check for the larger amount was made out. The truth was that the soldier was entitled to the larger amount and to the full proceeds of the check.

GIVES UP TITLE TO MARRY

Prince George of Denmark, who was compelled to renounce all his royal prerogatives, as well as his place in the line of succession to the Danish throne and to descend to the ordinary nobility with the title of Count Rosenborg because of his marriage to the daughter of Count Calvi de Bergoglio, Italian ambassador to Copenhagen.

CHEROKEE BILL'S AGE 123

Fought With Bow and Arrow Against British in 1812—Enlisted at Fifteen.

Grand Junction, Col.—Cherokee Bill, veteran of the plains and soldier in the war of 1812, has just celebrated his one hundred and twenty-third birthday at the county home here.

Cherokee Bill is the only name he knows. In the early days he fought with bow and arrow with the aborigines and even used that primitive weapon, he says, when he fought the British in 1812. He enlisted in the army when he was fifteen years old.

He was born June 6, 1797, and was twice listed in the United States census as the oldest native of America.

The aged Indian recently made a cap for himself out of the down of cattails, and wears this proudly when he hobbles along the streets with the aid of a cane he has owned since the Civil war.

He is getting feeble, though he still has a good appetite.

RAIDS NET FORTUNE IN BOOZE

In addition, thousands of gallons of beer containing more than half of 1 per cent alcohol have been confiscated.

The liquor is stored in eight warehouses here awaiting removal to Washington.

How Roosevelt Points to Path for Progress and Peace of Country.

Describes Democratic platform as definite document and solemn pledge that, given the authority the Democratic party will accomplish clear aims.

Takes determined stand for the League of Nations and terms it "a practical solution of a practical situation."

Declares that "the Constitution is in every way supreme" to the League of Nations; that the Democratic peace plan "is not anti-national," but "anti-war."

States conviction that "the league will not die," adding that "an ideal does not die which meets the call of our mothers."

Holds that, from the practical point of view alone, peace by resolution of Congress is unworkable; that, from that, from the point of view of millions of Americans who served in the war, and millions "who had the splendid hope of peace for future generation it is an insult and a denial of our national purpose."

Voices faith in his fellow countrymen—faith that they are not afraid to enter the League of Nations, to do their part to lift the burden of war from the world.

Sees in James M. Cox a strong leader for the people who has notably demonstrated his executive ability and constructive statesmanship as Governor of Ohio—a leader who has "clear vision of things as they are and independence, courage, and skill to guide us along the road to things as they should be without swerving one footstep at the dictation of narrow partisans who whisper 'party' or selfish interests that murmur profits."

Pilgrim Haslett.

A story that has running through it a vein of humor is to the effect that in the old days of hand composition, a printer from Pennsylvania, known as Pilgrim Haslett, on a migration southward, wandered into Barboursville, Ky., and asked the editor of the Mountain Advocate for a job. "Well," said the editor, "I can put you to work, but I'm afraid I can't pay you much money." "Make me an offer," said Pilgrim. "All right. I can give you two meals a day at my Asserts that Governor Cox is a "clear-thinking business man" who can eliminate "archaic shortcomings of our governmental machinery" by reorganization of departments.

Advocates handling of government expenditures by trained men only.

Shows how Democrats offer "a larger life for our country and a richer destiny for our people" with a forward program for conduct of both domestic and international affairs.

Expresses faith which makes him "very certain that America will choose the path of progress and set aside the doctrine of despair, the whisperings of cowardice, the narrow road to yesterday."

Its All in How You Feel.

To say that "To smile and the world smiles with you" is but another way of saying that the world always seems to you, just as you feel and not as the world really is.

Many strong points based on psychology are found in the Christian Science catechism. Much use might be made of these scientific facts if they respected the limit to which they can be carried.

That the world is kind, or cold, gay or sad, better or worse must be determined by the mind of man for so far as immediate information is concerned.

The city to the country lad is a place of wondrous beauty and magnificent entertainment, if they are to be the judge, the oldest inhabitant of the city may think it cold, monotonous, heartless, cynical, corrupt and demoralizing.

It is apparent at once that it is impossible to tell from the mind of man what the conditions are of any particular place or of the present status of the world in general.

The mountains or the plains to the resident thereof are known to be a thing of beauty and joy forever.

Then what is the real condition of any city or section? Good to those who like it, and bad to those who do not? No one man or class of men are capable of judging conditions and are unqualified to pass judgment except to indicate their viewpoint so far as it goes in making up the judgment of the world.

The sailors in the hammocks on the vessel were thankful while the storm raged and tossed their vessel about, because they were not in the city and subject to the danger of falling roof etc., while the city dweller felt his superior security over the sailor's condition.

Charleston, Miss.—Mrs. R. V. Windmill Generates Electricity. The windmill has not been generally found available for the generation of electricity because of the irregularity of the air currents, but this has been overcome by a Swedish inventor. Instead of being directly connected to the dynamo in the usual manner, the mill-wheel shaft is geared to a hoisting device, which serves to elevate a two-ton weight to the top of a 53-foot steel and wood tower. When the weight reaches the maximum height, it is released, and, as it falls, actuates the dynamo, which is mounted on a bracket at the apex of the tower with the mill wheel. A storage battery and switchboard are housed in the lower portion of the tower.

Just Like an Apple to Marjorie. Little Marjorie, who is three, told her mother, the wife of a Muncie manufacturer, the other evening, that while the mother was uptown shopping she had been taken by a servant to call on her father in the latter's office.

"Oh, in the core of the afternoon," replied the little girl.

"Mother doesn't understand what you mean by the 'core' of the afternoon." It was explained to Marjorie.

WAR "MYSTERY" MADE CLEAR

Men on the Leviathan Now Understand How Their Officers Detected Them in Smoking.

Men who sailed on the Leviathan when she was being used as a transport will learn with interest the explanation of a "mystery" of the giant liner in those war days, a mystery which has been the subject of many a midnight conference in the lee of the deckhouse. Only recently a former officer of the Leviathan told the story. It appears that several of the crew sought a lower hold far from the haunts of the officers on duty and there, believing themselves carefully concealed, they smoked to their hearts' content. But the ship had a fire detection system consisting of a series of pipes to the holds, through which a suction fan is continually drawing air samples to the wheelhouse. Thus the officer on duty there noticed the curling wisps of smoke coming out of the pipe from one of the lower holds. Sniffing the smoke he detected the old familiar odor of tobacco.

It was an easy matter to hurry down and catch the men in the act and start them on a round of extra duty, which cured them of smoking aboard ship. They were puzzled to know how the officer had traced them. The hold was way down near the keel, far from the wheelhouse and there had not been another man within many yards of their position. They knew no officer had followed them and they took it for granted that there was no direct connection between the hold and the wheelhouse. And no one enlightened them during many trips to France.—New York Evening Post.

SERVED IN ORIENTAL STYLE

Magnificent Banquet Given by King Hussein of the Hedjaz to Lord Allenby.

A banquet given by King Hussein of the Hedjaz to Lord Allenby, the British high commissioner, as described by an Arab correspondent of the London Times on March 2, was a striking example of oriental magnificence. After preliminary visits and military reviews, in which the Bedouin cavalry dashed by at full speed, firing their rifles, the banquet was held in true Arab style in the municipality buildings at Jeddah.

On the table, which was eighteen feet broad by thirty feet in length, barefooted waiters dressed in rich Arab costume walked about helping the guests, 70 in number, to slices of the joints of roasted half sheep stuffed with almonds, rice and spices. Each guest had three or four plates, and was surrounded by some 20 or 30 dishes of salads, fish, roasted chickens, pilaff of mutton and sweets of all descriptions. The king's band of musicians played throughout the banquet.

At the end of the feast the king's servants handed round silver basins with ewers of scented water for the guests to wash their hands in. Coffee was served in another room while guests of a lower degree sat down at the banqueting table. The remnants of the feast, which were considerable, were distributed among the inhabitants of Jeddah and the crews of the British ships at anchor in the harbor. —Current History.

The House Famine.

Morris Hillquit was discussing in Albany the heinous profiteering on rents which so many New York landlords have been practicing.

"And despite this profiteering," he said, "houses and apartments are in greater demand than ever. Well-located tenants have their bells rung two or three times a day by total strangers who anxiously inquire if by any chance they think of leaving soon."

"I heard of a chap who entered a newspaper office recently and said to the girl behind the counter:

"I want to advertise in your paper for a house!"

"Yes. How many insertions?" said the girl briskly. "We make a reduction for space taken by the year, and we have also a very reasonable three-year contract that would probably suit you better still."

Windmill Generates Electricity.

The windmill has not been generally found available for the generation of electricity because of the irregularity of the air currents, but this has been overcome by a Swedish inventor. Instead of being directly connected to the dynamo in the usual manner, the mill-wheel shaft is geared to a hoisting device, which serves to elevate a two-ton weight to the top of a 53-foot steel and wood tower. When the weight reaches the maximum height, it is released, and, as it falls, actuates the dynamo, which is mounted on a bracket at the apex of the tower with the mill wheel. A storage battery and switchboard are housed in the lower portion of the tower.

Just Like an Apple to Marjorie. Little Marjorie, who is three, told her mother, the wife of a Muncie manufacturer, the other evening, that while the mother was uptown shopping she had been taken by a servant to call on her father in the latter's office.

"What time did you go?" asked the mother.

"Oh, in the core of the afternoon," replied the little girl.

"Mother doesn't understand what you mean by the 'core' of the afternoon." It was explained to Marjorie.

"Why, I mean the middle," she said simply, as wondering at the ignorance of grown folks.—Indianapolis News.

HONEYMOONS IN ODD PLACES

Persons of Adventurous Disposition Have Spent Them Amid Arcs and Savage Dangers.

Mr. Elkins, the wealthy young American who recently took his bride for a honeymoon "as near the North pole as he can comfortably get," is by no means the first bridegroom who has spent his "month of honey" in this chilly environment, says London Answers.

A few years ago Mr. Max Fleischmann, a Chicago millionaire, at his bride's request, took her straight from the altar to the Arctic wastes where they spent, on their own evidence, "delightful" months, hunting seals, reindeer and polar bears, two of which fell to the bride's own gun. Mr. Fleischmann's honeymoon wardrobe, we are told, consisted of an assortment of sheepskin dresses, lined with leather.

Less chilly, but no less adventurous, was the honeymoon journey of Major Powell-Cotton, who took his bride on a long and hazardous journey through Africa, spending many months in the heart of the Ituri forest, hunting the okapi and making friends of the savage pigmies, who had never before even seen a white woman.

But the most daring and adventurous of all recorded honeymoons was that of Captain Andrew, an American sailor, and his bride, who started to cross the Atlantic in a "cockleshell," 12 feet long, and were never seen again.

INDIAN IDEA OF RECKONING

Time Designated in Simple Fashion—Journeys and Distances Told Off by "Sleeps."

The American Indians of early days reckoned time by what they called "sleeps" and "moons." The Indian's "sleep" referred to a sun-to-sun day of 24 hours and his "moon" to what the white man roughly and improperly calls a month. The Indians indicated the noon hour by pointing vertically upward. To indicate the middle of the first half of the daylight period, 9 o'clock—he pointed upward halfway between the horizon and the zenith and to indicate mid-afternoon, 3 o'clock—he pointed toward the opposite quarter. He spoke of the eastern horizon as "sunrise" and of the western horizon as "sunset."

Journeys and distances between different points were measured in "sleeps." Thus, when he undertook to tell how far he had traveled or to tell how far one point was from another, the old-time Indian would say a certain number of "sleeps." Ordinarily, a "sleep" in this sense corresponded to something like 35 miles—the distance a man could cover in a day, traveling at an ordinary pace on foot. However, it was not unusual for men carrying important messages to make twice 35 miles or more in a single 24-hour period.

New York Landmarks Going.

The "downtown" section of New York is losing one of its landmarks by the demolition of the Eastern hotel to make room for an office building. For nearly a hundred years it has been the favorite hostelry of American seafaring folk. "Dynamite Johnny" O'Brien, well-known for his practice of shipping arms to the Latin-American countries, concocted many of his filibustering schemes in this hotel, which he made his headquarters.

One of the features of this building was its beams of solid mahogany. In 1822, when it was constructed, cargoes of supplies were frequently shipped from New York to South American ports, and when a return cargo could not be secured mahogany was brought back, serving the purpose of both cargo and ballast. These cargoes were sold cheaply, and were often used in the construction of New York buildings of that period.

A Heavy Exit.

I had had a misunderstanding with my employer, and when I handed in my resignation I told him in very plain English what I thought of him; he, also, pointing out a few faults he thought I had. A few months later, after answering a blind ad for a position, I received a reply naming a "time" for an appointment. My name at that time being an exceedingly common one, it was not recognized; neither did I recognize him, as he had moved his office, and changed the firm name. Upon being ushered into the office I met my former employer face to face. We were both speechless, and I did not catch my breath until I had backed out and was in an elevator going down.—Chicago Tribune.

City Minus Cafeterias!

Buenos Aires has no cafeterias for women and only one in a modified form for men. The first one for girls in the city is soon to be opened by the Y. W. C. A. The only steam table in Buenos Aires was discovered by Y. W. C. A. secretaries in the storeroom of a gas company. It had been sent from England for a food exposition and never used after that. It is now installed in the Y. W. C. A. The cafeteria when opened promises to draw a crowd for more than the usual reason.

It Did.

"My dear sir," said the salesman, courteously, as he handed his customer his package and no change, "you will find that your suit will wear like iron."

And sure enough it did. The man hadn't worn it two months when it began to look rusty.—New York General Magazine.
